

INTRODUCING... V22 VIEW TUBE TENANTS

Our View Tube tenants are a diverse group of makers who use these studios to create and sell. Please see, in their own words, some more information about their practice and do drop by their studios to see what's available.

Grace Du Prez

Grace is a 3D Printing Pen Artist that creates one off pieces on a commission basis.

'My signature working style has developed from my background in Mixed Media Textiles, graduating from The Royal College Of Art in 2010. Now acclaimed as one of the industry's leading designer-makers I also teach my skills around the UK and internationally in a variety of different workshop classes.

At The Doodle Laboratory you can expect to see behind the scenes of my current commission and even take part in a unique workshop where you can learn to draw with plastic in the air.'

Promises Promises

Promises Promises is a collection of modern, architecturally inspired jewellery, handmade in London by designer Victoria Myatt.

'The different colours of Jesmonite composite are hand dyed before being cast in a mould to give a unique ombre effect; every stone is unique. Metal elements are laser cut for precise graphic shapes, before being finished and layered to create each final piece.'

The 'Structure' collection is inspired by the idea of revealing the hidden structures that make up the world around us. Shapes came from the insides of cells and the skeletons of buildings, apparently solid but created by a matrix of structure and space.'

Tara Enyia

A London-native contemporary artist and illustrator specialising in still life and figurative drawings.

'As a London College of Fashion graduate my work embodies a modern realist approach and can be seen in a variety of fashion and lifestyle publications today.'

Miina Laitsaari

A London based fashion brand focusing on sustainably produced and ethical women's wear.

'I want to make fashion in a different way and save the environment from unnecessary strain by keeping the brand's carbon footprint as small as possible and minimising the negative impact that the production process of a garment has on the environment. With this ecological mindset, my brand creates beautiful and edgy styles that are designed to last without compromising on quality and style.'
